

2 February 2009

New Weinam Creek terminal ticket office and amenity block

Work began last week on a new toilet block and ticketing office for the Weinam Creek ferry terminal with contractors temporarily moving the existing facilities.

The construction of the new facilities, designed to improve the terminal amenities for Southern Moreton Bay island residents and visitors alike, will not disrupt current bus services or impact on any existing parking bays.

The relocation of the current ticket office and amenity block by twenty meters allows the contractors to start work on the new facility.

Weather permitting the work is expected to be finished in May this year.

The new ticket office and amenity block will replace the temporary structures currently in place and include larger public toilet amenities, more undercover areas and vending space as well as significantly improved ticket office facilities.

Island ferry service contractor Bay Islands Transit System (B.I.T.S.) is contributing to the cost of the new ticket office facilities.

For more information, commuters and residents contact Council's Project Delivery Group on 3829 8967.